

Medical Assessors – Personal Injury Commission

Sydney CBD, Metro, Regional & Rural NSW

Medical Panel Appointment to February 2025

The Personal Injury Commission (the Commission) was established on 1 March 2021 to resolve personal injury disputes in NSW. The Commission is an independent statutory tribunal within the New South Wales justice system, committed to providing a transparent and independent dispute resolution service.

The Commission exercises its functions in two divisions:

- The Motor Accident Division which addresses disputes between people injured on the road and Compulsory Third Party (CTP) insurers.
- The Workers Compensation Division which addresses disputes between people injured at work and their employers.

The Commission is seeking applications from suitable medical specialists wishing to be appointed as Medical Assessors for the Commission to undertake medical assessments in the following medical disciplines:

- Psychiatry
- Occupational Medicine
- Orthopaedic Surgery
- Rehabilitation Medicine
- General Surgery

Appointments to the panel of Medical Assessors are made by the President of the Commission and we are seeking applicants to be appointed to both or either Division.

Medical Specialists are required to conduct assessments throughout NSW including regional and rural areas with preference at the Commission's Medical Suites in Darlinghurst.

An information pack which outlines the application and selection process can be found on the Commission's website.

Completed applications must be e-mailed to medicalassessors@pi.nsw.gov.au

Further information can be obtained by contacting John Barlow, Senior Medical Panel Officer on (02) 9219 3242

If you require an adjustment during the recruitment process, please notify us in your application.
